

CONSULTANCY

ABOUT THE SERVICE

Our security consultants work with our clients to help identify security threats and help implement appropriate measures to mitigate risks in a cost effective and sustainable manner. Our security consultancy services are very much in demand, and as the demands for security and risk reductions become more technologically advanced and complex in the coming years companies increasingly realise that they need external help from appropriate subject matter experts and experience to plan and implement effective and efficient security plans, policies, routines, equipment, procedures and training to strategically protect against adapting threats.

We have experience and case studies at International, National and Business level covering Government bodies through to small businesses. We have a proven track record at supporting clients ranging from Appropriate Authorities to appointed persons and compliance managers in the scoping, development, delivery, implementation and operational maintenance of regulatory and compliance frameworks.
