

AVIATION SECURITY MANAGER

ABOUT THE COURSE

This course is aimed at those who are responsible for ensuring that an Aviation Security Programme, together with its implementation, meets all legal provisions. It will provide delegates with a greater understanding of an Aviation Security Manager's roles and responsibilities.

We incorporate hands-on training with inert explosive devices and their component parts. Live explosives demonstrations of a shoe bomb, liquid explosives and other aviation relevant IED's are all part of the demonstration events.

The format of this Department for Transport certified course includes use of classroom instruction, group discussions, video footage and case studies alongside practical exercises. The course targets the issues raised by the current security climate and heightened threat levels, taking into account the motivations and tactics which have been used recently and those which are possible for future attacks on aviation.
