

REDLINE RENEWS CONTRACT FOR PROVISION OF QUALITY ASSURANCE TO MANCHESTER AIRPORTS GROUP.

Redline Assured Security is proud to announce that it has been chosen by Manchester Airports Group to continue to provide key elements of Aviation Security Quality Assurance across the Airport Group. Once again beating back stiff competition, Redline have proven to be the “best in class” service delivery partner for these type of services and innovation in the field.

The new contract, which commences in December 2018, allows Redline and MAG to continue to build on the high quality and robust processes, procedures and systems that have been developed over many years.

Paul Mason, CEO of Redline, said: “We are both delighted and privileged to have been chosen by our partners at MAG to continue with this critical quality assurance service. We are immensely proud of what has been achieved working in collaboration with MAG over the past 6 years and we look forward to continuing to fulfil our part as partners supporting their exceptional quality management team.

Andrew Yarwood, MAG Internal Audit Manager – Security commented: “Again Redline have demonstrated that they are the right company to partner with to develop and advance the quality assurance programme for MAG. We look forward to building on our established partnership to ensure that the assurance programme remains focussed on the key risk areas and evolves to address new and emerging threats”.
